MONTHLY COMPANY REPORT
Reporting Period: July 2026

1. Executive Summary

July 2026 was a productive month for Nova Xpress Logistics. The company continued to provide reliable logistics services while maintaining steady financial performance and expanding its digital presence.

During the month, the Operations Department processed over one thousand customer deliveries, the Finance Department maintained healthy profitability, the Logistics Team continued to improve rider accountability through performance monitoring, and the Media Department increased customer engagement across digital platforms.

Although operational challenges such as customer availability, incomplete order confirmation, and rider-related constraints affected some deliveries, the company remained profitable and implemented measures to improve service delivery.

2. Financial Performance

Financial Overview

	Office Expenses	12,000
	Other Expenses	161,500
		1,569,500
NET PROFIT			2,291,399

Financial Analysis

The company generated a total revenue of ₦5,592,899 from over 1108 orders delivered during July 2026, caught across the various partners we work with i.e. Novacare, Leafora and Bob.

Direct operating costs amounted to ₦1,732,000, representing approximately 31% of total revenue. These costs consisted mainly of riders' wages, fuel expenses, vehicle maintenance, and communication expenses.

After deducting direct operating costs, the company realised a Gross Profit of ₦3,860,899, representing a gross profit margin of 69.03%.

Administrative and operational expenses totalled ₦1,569,500, with staff salaries accounting for the largest portion of operating expenses.

At the end of the reporting period, the company recorded a Net Profit of ₦2,291,399, representing approximately 41% of total revenue. This indicates that the company remained financially healthy while maintaining its daily operations.

3. Operations Department

Delivery Performance from the 2nd week of July – end of July.

KPI	Result
Total Orders Assigned	1,236
Total Orders Delivered	683
Delivery Success Rate	55.26%
Undelivered Orders	553
Undelivered Rate	44.74%

Analysis

The Operations Department processed 1,236 customer orders during the reporting period and successfully completed 683 deliveries, achieving a delivery success rate of 55.26%.

Although a significant number of deliveries were completed successfully, 553 orders could not be fulfilled within the reporting period.

Breakdown of Undelivered Orders

Cause	Number	Percentage
Customer-related issues	370	66.91%
Sales Representative issues	132	23.87%
Rider-related issues	18	3.25%
Cancelled Orders	33	5.97%

Operational Findings

The review indicates that customer-related issues remain the biggest challenge affecting delivery performance.

These include:

- Customers not answering calls.
- Switched-off phone numbers.
- Customers requesting delivery rescheduling.
- Insufficient funds upon delivery.
- Customer absence at delivery locations.

Sales Representative-related issues accounted for almost one-quarter of failed deliveries. These were mainly caused by orders being dispatched without proper confirmation of customer availability.

Rider-related challenges were minimal and included motorcycle breakdowns, illness, heavy traffic, adverse weather conditions, and limited delivery time.

The company also recorded improvements in resolving location-related delivery challenges following the onboarding of additional PDA delivery personnel within Abuja.

4. Rider Performance

The Logistics Department continued to monitor rider performance using monthly scorecards based on delivery completion rates.

Rider	Bike	Performance
Godwin	Bike 4	73%
Hussain	Bike 3	71%
Kefas	Bike 5	68%
Oladele	Bike 2	65%
Abdul	Bike 8	63%
Simon	Bike 1	61%
Oche	Bike 6	50%

Overall, the riders demonstrated commitment despite operational challenges. Higher-performing riders maintained consistent delivery completion rates, while lower-performing riders were affected mainly by customer availability, delivery locations, and operational constraints rather than poor work ethic.

Continuous monitoring, coaching, and route optimisation remain essential to improving rider performance.

5. Marketing & Media Department

The company's social media platforms continued to grow throughout July.

GROWTH METRICS

Metric	June	July	Percentage Growth
Delivery Volume	1,029	1,108	7.68% ↑
Net Profit	₦2,069,500	₦2,291,399	10.72% ↑
Delivery Rate	70.9%	75.0%	5.78% ↑ (4.1 percentage-point increase)
Social Media Engagement	0	179	New Activity Introduced

Analysis

- Delivery Volume: Deliveries increased from 1,029 in June to 1,108 in July, representing a 7.68% growth. This indicates improved operational output and increased customer demand.
- Net Profit: Net profit rose from ₦2,069,500 to ₦2,291,399, reflecting a 10.72% increase. This shows that the company's revenue growth outpaced its operating costs.
- Delivery Rate: The delivery success rate improved from 70.9% to 75.0%, an increase of 4.1 percentage points, equivalent to a 5.78% relative improvement. This suggests better delivery efficiency and operational coordination.
- Social Media Engagement: July recorded 179 engagements, compared with no recorded engagement in June. Since the starting value is zero, a percentage growth cannot be calculated. Instead, this should be reported as the launch or introduction of measurable social media engagement, indicating progress in the company's digital marketing efforts.

Overall Growth Summary

The comparison between June and July shows positive growth across the company's key performance indicators. Delivery volume, profitability, and delivery efficiency all improved during the month, while the commencement of measurable social media engagement demonstrates increased focus on brand visibility and customer interaction. Overall, these results indicate that the company is progressing steadily in both operational performance and business development.

Recommendations

To improve operational efficiency and customer satisfaction, the following actions are recommended:

1. Strengthen customer confirmation procedures before dispatching orders.
2. Improve communication between Sales Representatives and customers.
3. Continue reviewing rider routes to reduce travel time and fuel consumption.
4. Introduce weekly performance reviews for riders.
5. Increase customer awareness regarding delivery schedules and payment readiness.
6. Continue expanding digital marketing efforts to improve customer reach.
7. Monitor operational costs regularly to maintain profitability.

Conclusion

Nova Xpress Logistics recorded a positive performance during July 2026. Despite operational challenges affecting delivery completion, the company remained profitable and continued to strengthen its logistics, financial, and marketing operations.

The Finance Department maintained healthy profitability, the Operations Department sustained nationwide deliveries, the Logistics Team continued to improve rider accountability, and the Media Department increased online engagement.

Going forward, improving customer confirmation, strengthening coordination between departments, and optimising delivery operations will further increase delivery success rates, enhance customer satisfaction, and support the company's long-term growth objectives.
